Mining Man Dies In Los Angeles

"Tonopah, June 10 - Fidel (Gordo) Ramos, 49, well known Tonopah miner, died in Los Angeles last week following an extended illness. A native of Mexico, Ramos had been in ill health and a month ago went to Los Angeles for treatment.

Funeral services were conducted from Wonacott and Cavanaugh Chapel Sunday and interment was in the local cemetery.

Ramos, who is survived by his wife and five small children, had leased in the local mines until ill health forced his retirement. In recent months he had been employed at the Rex Club. He had resided in Tonopah for ten years."
